MOTORMAN IS EXONERATED BY CORONER'S JURY

With Deputy Sheriff Julius Asch presiding the coroner's jury yesterday morning returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Hoei Isa. Japanese, who was run down and killed by a street car at Manoa last Friday afternoon.

Frank Hill, the Rapid Transit motoron sounding his gong when he first arisen in regard to old students. observed the wagon at a distance of 300 feet. As he approached the wagon, he slowed down considerably. The driver of the wagon, who was apparently Isa, swung his team away from the street car, and while so doing, the horses became frightened, ran back onto the track and the wagon was hit by the street car.

Hill said that had he brought his car to a full stop the collision could have been prevented. The car struck the left front wheel of the wagon, according to Hill, but women witnesses said that it was the rear wheel.

GRADUATE FROM RICE PLANTING TRAINING SCHOOL

To commemorate the graduation of the first student from the Training School for Nurses of the Queen's hospital, appropriate exercises and an entertainment will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the nurses' annex. Nurses and friends will attend.

Mrs. A. C. Kamauoha, who completed the prescribed course of training on August 15, has the distinction of being the first nurse to receive a certificate from the Queen's hospital school. Mrs. Kamauoha received her first three years' training in the children's hospital, entering that institution in February, 1913, and remaining there until February, 1916. She entered the Queen's hospital school on February 23, 1916, and, because she was allowed several years for her work in the children's hospital, was able to complete her course this year ahead of the nine other nurses in her

Mrs. Kamauoha will now be given the position of chief surgical nurse at the Queen's hospital.

Queen Liliuokalani designed the class pin which will be awarded to Mrs. Kamauoha. This pin can only be worn by the graduates of the school and to it much significance and honor is attached.

George W. Smith, president of the board of trustees, and Werner Roehl, superintendent, of the hospital, will give the main addresses at the exercises tomorrow night. Following the ing of rice and also give the planter announcement of Mrs. Kamauoha's graduation, refreshments will be served and the floor will be cleared

> The Training School for Nurses of the Queen's hospital was opened in January, 1916, under the direction of Superintendent Roehl. During the first year twenty nurses were in training. The next class will come in on October 15.
